

Bright Coffee Shop Sales Analysis

149,116 transactions across three New York locations, January to June 2023. Built for the CEO to see where revenue comes from and when the store trades best.

TOTAL REVENUE

$698,812

+104% Jan → Jun

UNITS SOLD

214,470

Across 9 categories

TRANSACTIONS

149,116

6 months of trading

AVG. BASKET

$4.69

Revenue per transaction

PEAK WINDOW

Morning

$253,296 · busiest 10:00

Revenue trend

Monthly revenue is climbing steadily into summer

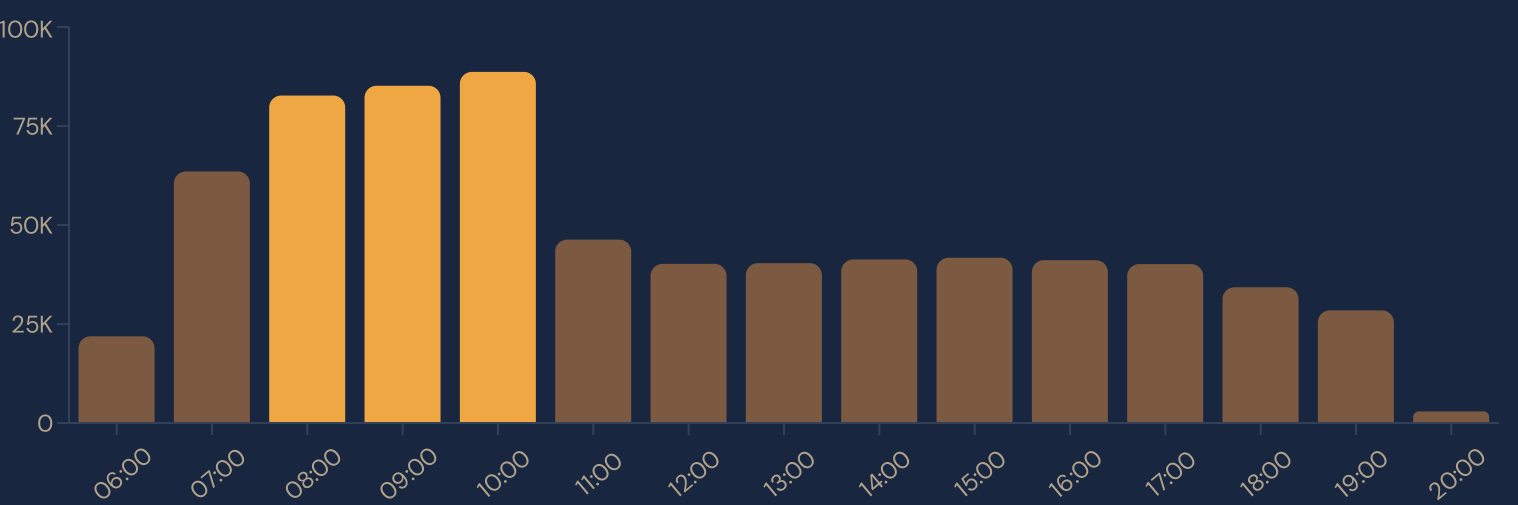

Revenue by category

Coffee and tea carry the business

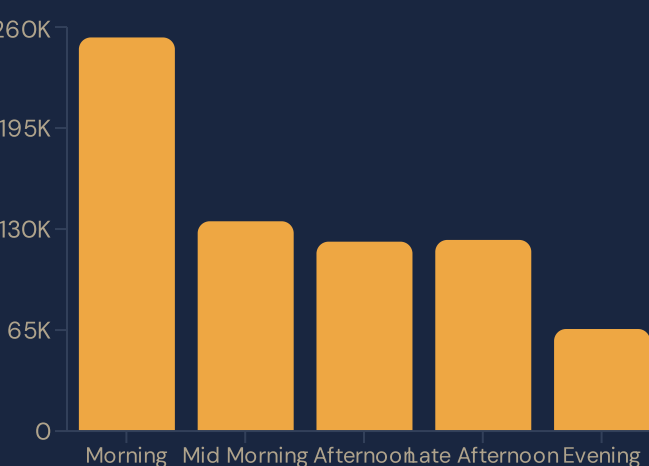

Revenue by hour of day

Highlighted bars are the top trading hours

Revenue by time interval

Mornings dominate

Top product types

Barista Espresso leads with $91,406

Units sold by category

Volume, not value

Store performance

Remarkably even across sites

Best-selling products

Top 10 by revenue

Underperformers

Lowest 10 by revenue — promote or drop

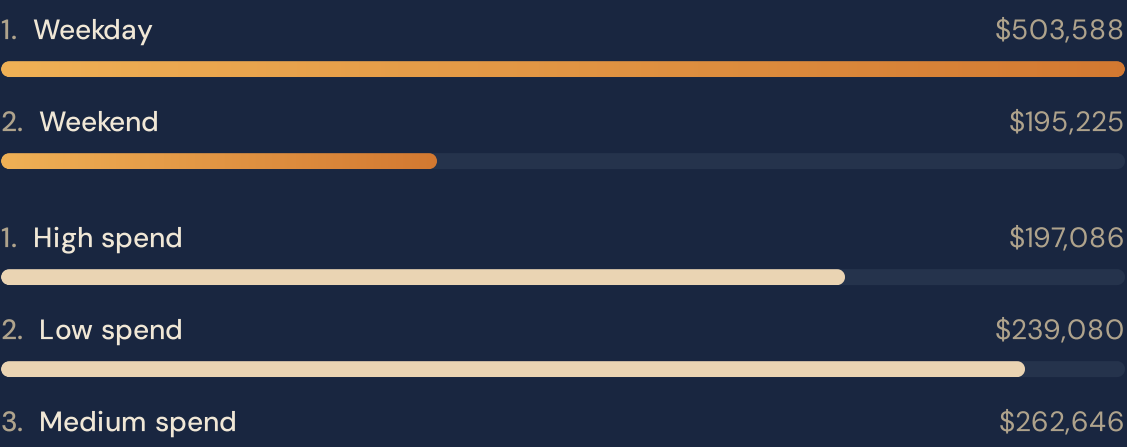

Revenue by day of week

Trading is flat across the week

Weekday vs weekend & spend mix

Where the money sits

Recommendations for the CEO

Protect the morning rush

Morning brings $253,296 — staff and stock heaviest before 11:00, and keep espresso and chai always available.

Fill the evening gap

Evening is the weakest window at $65,669. Run happy-hour pricing on bakery and chocolate after 16:00.

Act on the long tail

Packaged chocolate, branded goods and loose tea barely move. Bundle them with top sellers or retire the slowest lines.